“ Lucille and I met while in high school, both hippies and outcasts, and we stayed friends ever since. Going to concerts in the 60s was so much fun! We moved to California together in 1970 where I remained.

She taught me that friends stick together, that's their job. When Lucille was upset, ranting, speaking her mind, and I wanted to leave, she said "No! You should stay with me because that's what friends do." A lesson I have never forgotten.

We had many good times, laughing, playing with her cats, going to the fabric store, watching Star Trek and Stargate, and in later times, long talks on the phone. I have the jewelry she made me and photos to remind me of her fierce spirit. I will miss her, her sense of humor and the long friendship we had. Truly great friends are hard to find, difficult to leave, and impossible to forget.

Dearest Lucille,

Blessed Be your spirit. Blessed Be you dreams. Sleep in bliss and never know fear, but only the peace of the Mother.
You have chosen cremation and dispersal into the ocean, may your soul merge with the cosmic elements and permeate Nature.

Love you,
Marcie

“ Lucille will be with me always. In my heart as I loved her as a bff for 45 years. And in my wardrobe as probably half of my clothes and jewelry were made by her. I remember sitting with Lucille and watching the election returns from South Africa in the first post-apartheid election. We had donated many wind-up radios 2-way radios to the effort so different polling places could communicate with each other. We received a copy of the ballot and we went together to have it framed. When I first met Lucille we spend happy hours driving around in her VW bug, visiting Ridley Creek and having lunch at Cocco's Pizza. We played Trivial Pursuit for hours, laughing and excluding all the military questions. When my wife was recovering from her hysterectomy, Lucille was there to help and made her recovery SO much smoother. We listened to Joni Mitchell and watched Star Trek. She made my life so much happier for so long. Lucille Pierantozzi, presente!
